MENOPUR® (menotropins for injection)

MENOPUR® is a prescription medicine that contains hormones. MENOPUR contains follicle stimulating hormone and luteinizing hormone activity. These hormones stimulate healthy ovaries to make eggs. MENOPUR is used for women who need medical help to get pregnant. Your doctor may prescribe more than one medicine as part of a pregnancy plan.

Important Safety Information

- Do not use MENOPUR if you: have ovaries that are not able to make eggs even with the use of hormones, are pregnant or think you may be pregnant, have problems with your thyroid gland or adrenal gland that are not controlled by taking medicine, have tumors in your female organs (including breasts), have a tumor of your pituitary gland or any other tumor in your brain, or have heavy or irregular vaginal bleeding and the cause is not known. Do not use MENOPUR if you have a known previous allergic reaction to these medications.

ENDOMETRIN® (progesterone) Vaginal Insert

ENDOMETRIN® is a vaginal insert that contains the hormone progesterone, one of the hormones essential for helping you to become and to stay pregnant. ENDOMETRIN is for women who need extra progesterone while undergoing treatment in an Assisted Reproductive Technology (ART) program.

Important Safety Information

Do not use ENDOMETRIN if you:

- Are allergic to anything in ENDOMETRIN
- Have unusual vaginal bleeding that has not been evaluated by a doctor
- Currently have or have had liver problems or cancer of the breast or genital organs
- Have or have had blood clots in the legs, lung, eyes, or elsewhere in your body

Common side effects seen with ART and ENDOMETRIN included pelvic pain after surgery, abdominal pain, nausea, and swollen ovaries (ovarian hyperstimulation syndrome).

Other reported side effects include abdominal bloating, headache, urinary infections, uterine cramping, constipation, vomiting, tiredness and vaginal bleeding.

Vaginal products with progesterone may also cause vaginal irritation, burning and discharge.

Please see reverse side for Important Safety Information continued for both Menopur and Endometrin.

- MENOPUR may cause serious side effects. They sometimes stimulate the ovaries too much. This is called ovarian hyperstimulation syndrome (OHSS) and can be a serious medical problem. OHSS may cause pelvic pain or breathing problems, or it may make you urinate less. In rare cases, patients with this problem have had serious lung problems. MENOPUR can also cause blood clots and strokes. Call your doctor or get medical help right away if you have: severe pelvic pain, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, sudden weight gain, trouble breathing, or decreased or no urination.
- MENOPUR may cause pregnancies with twins or more than two babies at the same time, miscarriages, birth defects, and pregnancies located outside the uterus.
- Do not use MENOPUR if you are nursing.
- The most common side effects with MENOPUR are headache, stomach pain, and upset stomach. Sometimes there is an injection-site reaction that can cause bruising, pain, or redness.

These are not all the possible side effects of MENOPUR.
For more information, ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist.

Progesterone can increase your chance of getting blood clots. Blood clots can be serious and lead to death. Serious blood clots include those in the legs, lungs, eyes, heart, and brain.

Call your doctor and get medical help right away if you have: persistent lower leg pain, sudden shortness of breath, coughing up blood, sudden blindness (partial or complete), severe chest pain, sudden severe headache, vomiting, dizziness, or fainting, weakness in an arm or leg, or trouble speaking, yellowing of the skin and/or white of the eyes indicating possible liver problems.

Other risks of progesterone include: headache, breast tenderness, bloating or fluid retention, mood swings and depression, irritability and drowsiness.

Call your doctor right away if you have abnormal vaginal bleeding. These are not all the possible side effects of ENDOMETRIN. For more information, ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist.

Tell your healthcare provider if you have any side effect that bothers you or that does not go away. You may report side effects to FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088.
